

A CHILD GETS SICK CROSS, FEVERISH IF CONSTIPATED

LOOK AT TONGUE! THEN GIVE FRUIT LAXATIVE FOR STOM-ACH, LIVER, BOWELS.

"CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS" CAN'T HARM CHILDREN AND THEY LOVE IT.

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign the little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given. Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills; give a tea-spoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."—Adv.

Rebyke.

He was eating in a large downtown restaurant. First he complained that his steak was small. Then he demanded Vienna bread—he couldn't eat "that dark stuff."

"Waiter, bring me some more sugar. I like my coffee sweet," he growled loudly.

"Say, are you an American?" a man at the adjoining table asked.

"Of course I'm an American—what's that got to do with you?"

"Nothing, except these are war times and a hog like you should be thrown out of a decent restaurant. And what is more, I've a good mind to do it myself."

There was something in the speaker's looks and manner which suggested he meant what he said. The grumbler called for his check and beat a retreat without waiting to finish his food.—Detroit Journal.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Catarrhal Deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing may be destroyed forever. Many cases of Deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each case of Catarrhal Deafness that can be cured by HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE. All Druggists. Circulars free. P. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Some Defense Plan.

"You say you were going forty miles an hour when the accident happened?"

"Yes, your honor. I tried to get the machine up to forty-five miles an hour, but couldn't."

"Don't you call that reckless driving?"

"No, sir. If I had been going forty-five miles an hour I should have been a mile away before the man got to the corner where he was hit."

Goodness should be the most attractive thing in the world, but we do well to remember that mere correctness of life and principle, unutilized by love and sympathy, lacks the qualities that charm.

Food Attracts Ants.

The surest way to keep a house free from ants is to leave no food lying about on shelves or in open places where they can reach it. Ants go where they find food, and if the food supplies of the household are kept in ant-proof metal containers or in ice-boxes, and if all food that may happen to be scattered by children or others is cleaned up promptly, the ant nuisance will be slight. Cake, bread, sugar, meat, and like substances are especially attractive to the ants and should be kept from them.

Roaches will not frequent rooms unless they find some available food material, and if such materials can be kept from living rooms and offices or scrupulous care exercised to see that no such material is placed in drawers where it can leave an attractive odor or fragments of food, the roach nuisance can be largely restricted to places where food necessarily must be kept.

When once behind it the operator can go forward or backward, but in rather an awkward position.

WASTED MOMENTS.

"I wonder," said the gold watch, "if you find it the same as I do."

"Of course," replied the silver watch. "I would be delighted to answer your question, but I don't know how to answer it because I don't really know what it was."

"I don't understand it either," said the gun-metal watch.

Now the three watches were beside each other in the watch-maker's shop. They were all there to be mended, though the chief trouble with the gold watch was that it had failed to keep the right time. It had jumped ahead and then lost time in the most astonishing fashion.

"Yes, pray explain yourself," said the silver watch.

"I will," said the gold watch.

"Hurry," said the gun-metal watch, "for we've no time to lose."

"Now don't be unkind," said the gold watch, "for I have lost time and I have gained time. I have done just as I saw fit about things and the reason for it is very simple."

"You seem to have reasons for everything," said the silver watch.

"Yes, and you have a lot of talk about which we can't understand. You are a very bright watch," said the gun-metal watch.

"Well, I'm bright in a way," said the gold watch, "because I am of gold. But I will tell you first of all why I have done these dreadful things—such as to lose and gain time in such a reckless way."

"I was made to look expensive. I cost a lot of money—that is I cost a good deal of money. The creature who made me, and the one who had me made were more anxious to make me look well than to have me act well."

"They didn't care what happened to me once I was sold and they sold me for less than they usually would sell a gold watch for because I was so cheaply made inside."

"Of course I was expensive and in truth I was very expensive, for I wasn't worth my price and that makes an object most tremendously expensive."

"Well, you see, my works were very poor. I was nervous and not well and strong and so I couldn't go steadily. One day I'd feel very fine and I'd go dashing ahead, trying to make up for lost time. That of course, a poor watch can never do. It's never been expected of a watch and so a watch shouldn't try to do it.

"Wasted Moments Are Such a Pity."

"Time goes right on no matter what we may do. But you see I would be so silly. I would go ahead so fast that it was as bad as though I lost time."

"Many were the times when I felt so down-hearted that I just dragged the hours away—and lost lots of time. The whole trouble was that I was trying to pretend that I was something I wasn't. And that never does. If a creature is what it is and isn't trying to be something else, then it is all right."

"I was trying to act like a fine gold watch and I was really a poor gold watch. I was a humbug, but it wasn't my fault. It was the fault of the people who made me. Anyway now I am here to be fixed up so I can be what I pretend to be—a timekeeper."

"But I was going to ask a question when we began this talk. I was wondering if you both found it the same way as I did. By it, I meant I wondered if you both found people and their ways the same as I did."

"There are people who don't appreciate moments! Fancy that! They think they can make up for moments which have been lost. They don't seem to realize that the moments go marching on, marching on, and that they won't come back and that they won't lose step. No, a watch may often behave badly through its owner's fault or the watchmaker's fault, but the moments march on into hours and they never turn back. People don't seem to realize that they can't make the moments come back, even if they coax them, beg them and implore them."

"They don't make the most of those moments always and if they don't it's all their own fault. Oh wasted moments are such a pity when people can have them to make use of. Yes, they can play or work or sleep or eat—but to waste a moment is a dreadful thing." And the other two watches agreed.

Druggist's Advice.

Peru, Ind.—"I suffered from a displacement with backache and dragging down pains so badly that at times I could not be on my feet and it did not seem as though I could stand it. I tried different medicines without any benefit and several doctors told me nothing but an operation would do me any good. My druggist told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it with the result that I am now well and strong. I get up in the morning at four o'clock, do my housework, then go to a factory and work all day, come home and get supper and feel good. I don't know how many of my friends I have told what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."

His Blistered Leg.

In Camp Geneva one morning a recruit called Dr. Herman Spalding, the camp surgeon.

"I've got a blister on my leg I'd like you to look at," he said.

The surgeon looked. It was a blister worn by the friction of a wooden leg.

"Do you mean to tell me," the amazed doctor asked, "that you have gone through all of these drills on a wooden leg?"

"Certainly," said the patient, "and I'm going through the rest of them."
